Inderpal Singh

Naturopathic Cancer Therapist, India

As we all know cancer is a very dreadful and life-threatening disease, so there is the limitation of cancer treatment in allopathic medicines. As a cancer consultant [naturopathy medicines] I know there are good results of chemotherapy and radiotherapy in an early stage of disease, but when the disease goes to aggressive stage chemo and radio is of no use. Naturopathy medicines in an aggressive stage of cancer work as an immune booster which stops the growth of abnormal cells of the body, naturopathy medicines in an aggressive stage of cancer does not totally cure cancer but it can control the spread of cancer moreover it can be very beneficial in controlling the pain of cancer. There are some properties in herbal drugs which can stop the growth of cancer, moreover, there are some drugs in chemotherapy which is of plant origin like Paclitaxel, Docetaxel, Vincristine.
