United States have 4 (four) million registered nurses today. That capability that one in every 100 human beings is a registered nurse. Nurses are in each community – large and small – providing expert care from start to the quilt of life. In United States Registered Nurse Workforce Report Card and Shortage on January 2012. In this state-by-state analysis, the authors forecast the RN scarcity to be most extreme in the South and the West. Nurses care for individuals of all ages and cultural backgrounds who are healthy and ill in a holistic manner based on the individual's physical, emotional, psychological, intellectual, social, and spiritual needs. The profession combines physical science, social science, nursing theory, and technology in caring for those individuals.

To work in the nursing profession, all nurses hold one or more credentials depending on their scope of practice and education. In the United States, a Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN) works independently or with a Registered Nurse (RN). The most significant difference between an LPN and RN is found in the requirements for entry to practice, which determines entitlement for their scope of practice. RNs provide scientific, psychological, and technological knowledge in the care of patients and families in many health care settings. RNs may earn additional credentials or degrees. Education Nursing Conferences going to be held during January 2020 to December 2020 at various cities in Asia (Japan, Singapore, China, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Indonesia, Taiwan, Thailand, Philippine, and More...!!!
